

WHY YOU SEE THAT TURTLES HAVE SHELLS

By HARRISON

Long ago, turtles didn't have shells! Because back then turtles didn't have predators. They lived happily on the Earth. But then one day during the summer, the predators appeared and many turtles disappeared in one day. The gods felt sad, and decided to help the turtles. During the night, there was a mud storm. A lot of mud hit the turtles' backs. The mud hardened. It was the first time shells appeared on turtles' backs! The turtles had never been so happy!

So from then on, turtles are not afraid of their predators.
