

I Need to Write a Free Form Poem

By Madison S. Ramirez

I need to write a free form poem
I do not know what to write about
I have no ideas in my head whatsoever
All I am doing is just writing down what is going through my mind
Right now I am just gazing through an open door
Watching the leaves from a tree sway back and forth
I can feel the wind brushing past my face
I can hear the wind, it sounds oh so peaceful
Further on, I see a school building
It's snow white walls, and its ocean blue roof
A classroom door is open, with pictures on the window that little children have drawn
Now I am distracted with something that is alert
I believe that I am now done
